

HELP MAKE MUSICAL MAGIC

The hunt is on for talented teen musicians.

The Jewish Community Centre for London and JMI (Jewish Music Institute) is putting together a brand new Youth Music Ensemble for 14-18 year olds.

Led by professional musicians, the group will explore a variety of challenging and exciting music with the ultimate aim of performing in public venues across London.

The pilot workshop on Sunday September 18, from 2pm-4.30pm at Studio Theatre, The Roundhouse, Chalk Farm Road, London, will explore the eclectic world of Jewish Music, from Klezmer to Sephardic melodic songs, coached by renowned Klezmer cellist Francesca Ter-Berg. Members of the ensemble will also get a chance to talk about other kinds of music they would like to explore in future workshops and performances.

Anyone who has reached a minimum of grade 5 in their chosen instrument is welcome to come along.

Tickets, priced £12, are available at www.jccclondon.org.uk or by calling JCC London on 020 7431 9866.
